Changes in the Duni Group management team to further increase focus on the growing market and offer for sustainable “On the go” products and services

We are happy to inform that Nicklas Bengtsson, currently Executive Vice President Commercial for NorthEast and West, has accepted the role EVP business area BioPak in Europe. The business area focuses on sustainable products and services for the growing market of consuming food and drink “on the go”.

Manfred Hargarten, currently EVP Commercial Central and South, will take on Nicklas current responsibilities and consequently become EVP Commercial for all regions as an interim solution.

At the same time, Mats Lindroth, currently EVP business area BioPak, will take on a new role as Senior Advisor and in this focus on BioPak Pty Ltd and its subsidiaries, so called “BioPak Group*”. Mats will leave the Duni Group management team during the autumn to focus on BioPak Group as a board member. Mats will continue to report to President and CEO, Robert Dackeskog, in his new role.

“The market for sustainable packing and services continues to grow and is a very important part of Duni Group’s offer in Europe and via BioPak Group also in the rest of the world. I believe that current changes will strengthen our capacity to support this growing agenda in a very good way,” says Robert Dackeskog, President and CEO, Duni Group.

The above changes will take effect immediately. Current segment reporting will not be affected.
