The role of Executive Vice President for our Commercial regions becomes permanent

As previously announced, Manfred Hargarten, currently Executive Vice President (EVP) Commercial for our Central and South regions, took over the responsibility for all Commercial regions as an interim solution in September this year following the change of position for Nicklas Bengtsson, previously EVP Commercial region North, South and West and now EVP Business Area BioPak. The position of Executive Vice President Commercial will, effective immediately, become permanent.

“Taking over the responsibility for our commercial regions is an exciting and challenging task I am eager to continue with. I believe there is a great potential to find synergies across our markets and to create a holistically managed organization working towards our vision” says Manfred Hargarten.

“I am positive that this permanent role will strengthen our capacity to support our customers and develop our commercial organization even further”, says Robert Dackeskog, CEO of Duni Group.
